LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THE WAR

Correspondence of the Associated Press

THE ITALIAN FRONT IN TRENTINO, Sept. 14.—A foreigner visiting the Italian army along any of the fronts is quickly impressed with the comradery existing between officers and men.

King Victor Emmanuel is, perhaps, the most affable of all the Italian officers toward the soldiers. The king uses a high-powered motor car in his almost constant tours along the front, but he always finds time to chat with groups of soldiers, speaking in the native dialect of the men he is talking to.

This friendly spirit between officers and men has actually made for excellent discipline and bravery, military experts state. And for this reason all attempts to enforce the German system of discipline in the Italian army have been abandoned. With the exception of the British fighting force in France, it is said no other nation takes as good care of its soldiers as Italy. The food is excellent and plentiful. The rations are cooked twice a day and served hot, regardless of whether the soldiers are in the trenches, on the reserve firing line, or on the highest mountain.

The first aid corps provides adequate facilities for handling the injured along the firing line, while numerous field hospitals are located convenient to the fronts. Several large base hospitals have been established. In addition there are numerous relief camps carried on by private and public subscription. Chief among these are the "first aid restaurants," which were established by an English woman, Signora Hullah-Scall, widow of a former prominent officer of the Italian Alpino, and Signora Bagnani, who was Miss Dewar of Hamilton, Ontario. Some of the restaurants are set up close to the firing lines. Others are located at bases or main railroad stations. In addition to giving regular meals the restaurants supply the soldiers with delicacies not provided for in the army rations.

Along the front in the Trentino one rises rapidly from the heat of the valleys to the sharp cold of the Alpine heights. While the army in the lower sections has been digging itself in the troops holding the mountain positions have literally blasted themselves in. In the heights the soldiers' living quarters are cut in the solid rock. In many cases these caves are lined with planks and all are heated by fireplaces.

In the Cadore, north of Cortina and near the Marmolata mountain, which rises nearly 11,000 feet, there is a fair sized town, consisting entirely of entrenchments, or dugouts and caves. All of the caves are furnished with rough furniture made on the spot. The officers have beds of moss. The walls are covered with military coats and festooned with ivy and fir cones.

Over the entrance to the officers' mess is chiseled "Grand Hotel Mortar." In the center of the "hotel" hangs a cage containing a canary captured in an Austrian trench. Outside of the mess hall, and at various places in the cave-town life sized and heroic busts of King Victor have been carved in the rock faces.

A chapel has been cut in one side of a large spire of rock where it is sheltered from the enemy's shells. A portable altar has been erected and the soldiers have lined the walls of the chapel with pieces of bright quartz, scraps of colored cloth and the silver and gold papers from cigar and cigarette packages.

In another part of the settlement an open space is reserved for amusements. Here plays are given with officers and men mingling in the audience or games are held during heavy fighting.

A museum, containing objects secured during the campaign, was started in a corner of the amusement square. The chief display is a mandolin which was owned by a young Italian officer who lost his life in a desperate hand-to-hand encounter with Austrians after the latter had taunted the Italians with being an army of "mandolinists" rather than fighters.

On the heights overlooking the Dolomite road there is much evidence of recent battles in that section. Many fresh graves bore inscriptions indicating that both Italian and Austrian soldiers had been buried in the same spot.

The situation is entirely different, however, in the territory that was Austrian until ten weeks or so ago. Sentries are apparently everywhere and everything is under military control. Remains of barricades litter the country; pontoons take the place of bridges which were destroyed by the retreating Austrians, and the homes of a large portion of the population were destroyed by shells. Many of the villages were ransacked by the retreating enemy.

TWO HUNDRED DEPUTIES IN ACTIVE SERVICE

FRANCE DOUBTS THE WISDOM OF PERMITTING THEM TO SERVE IN ARMY

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, Sept. 14.—Doubts have arisen in France as to the wisdom of allowing members of the chamber of deputies to serve in the army and while doing so return to Paris from time to time and criticize the minister of war and the conduct of the war. Two hundred deputies, or one-third of the membership of the lower house of parliament, are in active service, some as privates but most of them as junior officers rarely above the grade of captain. They were reserve officers before the war. A few of them are restless intriguers who in their double capacity of military men at the front who with the right to leave their commands for Paris at any time the chamber is in session cause a great deal of embarrassment, both to their military superiors in command of the field and to the cabinet.

SHIPPING IN SHEEP

The Danberg cattle company of Carson valley is preparing to ship in thousands of cattle the coming months to feed during the winter and spring and already preparations are being made to receive something like 30,000 head of sheep, which will be placed on pasture. A number of hands will come from nearby sections, but many will be shipped by train from the eastern part of the state. For their care many new improvements have been made on the estate. Bringing in the sheep will begin about the 1st of October.—Carson Appeal.

OUR TASTE GOODS A SPECIALTY

LOTHROP-DAVIS CO.

All cigarettes are pure, but—purity alone doesn't make a cigarette SENSIBLE.

We don't know of a single one of our competitors who doesn't make his cigarettes of pure tobacco.

But a pure cigarette that didn't taste just right wouldn't do for you, would it?

And to be really sensible a cigarette must give you more than purity and a good taste.

It must be cool and friendly to your throat and tongue. And it must leave you feeling fine after smoking all day.

Fatimas are not the only cigarette that measure up to all these requirements. There are other sensible ones.

But Fatimas seem to have a big margin in their favor on their good taste. Otherwise they could not outsell all other cigarettes costing over 5c.

You can't tell whether they will just suit your taste until you try them.

At the same time, you can easily prove how sensible they are by these two tests.

Most men who try Fatimas say "Good Bye!" to all other cigarettes right away. That's why Fatimas sell so fast.

Why don't you try Fatimas today?

Ligarette Myra Tobacco Co.

TWO TESTS FOR ANY CIGARETTE

The taste of the cigarette—according to a leading tobacco journal—is up to the point that you are going to stick to the cigarette steady smoke. Here are a couple of tests that may help the average smoker to choose more wisely between different kinds of cigarettes.

The first test is for coolness, which means more comfort to the throat and tongue. Light any cigarette. Draw in a cloud of smoke—a small, ordinary puff it in your mouth for a few seconds. Hold it "float" around against your tongue.

If the cigarette contains a high grade of mild tobacco leaves, combined in just the right proportion, it will always feel cool and smooth both in your throat and to your tongue.

On the other hand, if the proportions are not right and if the cigarette contains inferior grades of tobacco or hidden strands of rank, oily leaf, you will find it burning at the tip of your tongue like a "sandpaper" stick in your throat, after smoking all day.

If the tobacco in the cigarette includes a correct proportion of mild grades—and is not mixed with age—and if they have qualities and to neutralize any unpleasant qualities in each of the different types of tobacco, you will be able to smoke practically whenever you feel like it through the day without feeling any effect from it.

But with another cigarette in which the blend is less skillful, even though the tobacco is of the highest grade, you will find that you are likely to have that feeling of "smoked too much."
